

Hello Class Five,

This is where our online learning adventure begins. On our class webpage you may have already found the pack for this week's activities. The pack has a home page (in the picture below), explanations for the activities, and things to help you with the tasks wherever you may need them. The blue underlined links in the pack should take you to each activity and its resources, and if you click on the Bradworthy Academy logo, you will always be taken back to the home page.

Several of the tasks in the pack can be discussed on the blog when we are live, or have things that can be emailed to me using the class5@bradworthy.devon.sch.uk address.

You don't have to do the pack in a certain order, so try and pace yourselves throughout the week and spread out the activities. The challenges in the green column link to things on Maths Shed and Spelling Shed, and we can have a chat about them this week in the blog.

The most important thing for you all to remember is that I am only an email or a blog message away. You can ask questions when you need to and share ideas or things you have found out! Don't post any answers until we ask you to – just in case someone else in the class hasn't done one of the activities yet!

I will probably add a blog post most days, and I have been enjoying finding lots of cool things online for you to enjoy, like concerts and zoos etc! On Friday of this week I have a very exciting blog post planned, which links to our story the Titanic Detectives Agency.

Make sure you all look after yourselves, and enjoy the work that you are completing. If something is a challenge, ask us for help. Nothing here needs any worrying about – you just need to try your best.

I'm really looking forward to chatting to you this week. Have a look at our class webpage to see when I will be live.

Keep smiling!

Mrs T x
